The screenshot shows the Popplet application interface. At the top left, the text 'popplet: my new popplet' is displayed. Below it are navigation buttons: 'home', 'view all', and a 'zoom' slider. To the right of the zoom slider are icons for a dark theme and settings. In the top right corner, there are three buttons: 'sign up!' (highlighted in pink), 'go fullscreen', and a help icon (?). The main area features a blue tutorial box with the text '1. Double-click to make a popple.' and a diagram of a popplet with a 'john' label and various editing tools. At the bottom of the tutorial box are a 'next' button and a '1/9' indicator.

The screenshot shows the Popplet website interface for user 'Hannah'. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'popplet hello Hannah' on the left and links for 'the popplet blog!', 'go fullscreen', 'feedback', 'account', and 'log out' on the right. Below the navigation bar, there are two tabs: 'your popplets' and 'public popplets'. A prominent pink button labeled 'make new popplet' is highlighted with a blue arrow pointing to it from a blue speech bubble. A red arrow points from a red text box to the same button. The blue speech bubble contains the text: 'Click this button to get started! Popplet is new and you are new, so we'll teach you a few quick things to get you going.' To the right of the main content area, there is a section titled 'example popplets' which displays two sample popplets: 'NY Notes' and 'Facts About Earth'. At the bottom right of the main content area, it says 'you have 0 popplets'.

The screenshot displays the Popplet web application interface. At the top left, the text "popplet: Rochas" is visible. Below it, there are navigation buttons: "home", "view all", and a "zoom" slider with minus and plus signs. To the right of the zoom slider are a blue square icon and a gear icon. In the top right corner, there are buttons for "go fullscreen", "?", "feedback", and "log out". A "share" button is located in the bottom right corner. The main workspace is light blue and contains a single popplet named "hannah". The popplet is a rounded rectangle with a black border and a white interior. It has a small "x" icon in the top right corner and a speech bubble icon in the top right corner. Below the popplet, there are four circular icons: a camera, a text tool with the letter "A", a slash tool, and an image tool. There are also several small grey circles around the popplet, indicating it is selected and can be moved.
